Gas Shortage Is Real, Ickes Says, In Rap at Pelley

Coordinator Declares Railroad President Hampers National Unity

By JOHN W. HENDERSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and petroleum coordinator, hotly disputed today a Senate committee's conclusion that there is no imminent shortage of petroleum products on the eastern seaboard and challenged the credibility of some of the testimony on which the conclusion was based.

"I have said that there was a shortage," the peppery cabinet officer told the committee investigating the petroleum situation, "and I mean as I have always meant, a shortage in transportation. I still say that there is a shortage."

"It doesn't mean that there isn't enough for today, but it does mean that, if this trend were allowed to continue, there would not be enough for next winter."

Ickes took sharp exception to testimony by John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, on which the committee based in part a finding that there was no shortage of transportation facilities.

Asserting that the committee's report had "gravely handicapped" the program of the petroleum coordinator's office by creating "a wholly unjustified attitude of complacency" on the part of the public, Ickes said Pelley had given testimony "which was utterly without foundation—and I believe he knew that it was without foundation."

Flays Pelley's Statement

"Mr. Pelley," the secretary asserted, "owes not only to you, but to the American people whom he has wantonly and maliciously defamed."

Lend-Lease Pact Made with Brazil

Loan of More Than $90,000,000 Will Be Made to "Good Neighbor"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — As another step to reinforce defense of the Western Hemisphere, the United States today signed a Lend-Lease agreement with Brazil, the largest and most geographically strategic nation of South America.

Although the state department merely confirmed that the agreement had been signed and the Brazilian ambassador declined to discuss the matter, it was understood that the agreement includes a loan of between $90,000,000 and $110,000,000 to the southern republic.

Products which the United States will receive in return will be stipulated later but informed sources said they would include vital defense materials of which Brazil has a vast store, including minerals and rubber.

The proximity of the hump of Brazil to Dakar and the West African coast and the fact that the loan is reported to be several times larger than Lend-Lease loans made to other Latin American countries make the agreement with Brazil by far the most important yet made with a "good neighbor" country.

LARGE AMERICAN FIELD FORCE AND SUPPLIES REACH ICELAND

Infantry, Artillery, Engineer, Signal, Ordnance and Medical Units Ready for Action

By DREW MIDDLETON

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Sept. 17 (Delayed) (AP) — A field force of the United States army—infantry, artillery, and engineer, signal, ordnance and medical units—has arrived here with vast supplies of equipment and materials to make this one of the most formidable fortresses of the north.

The Americans brought what their commander, Major General Charles E. Bonesteel, called "some interesting equipment" — skis, snowshoes and Garand automatic rifles for every man—to take over camps built by United States marines and British forces.

Finland Announces Capture of Soviet Karelia Capital

Petrozavodsk Seized, Helsinki Statement Declares

HELSINKI, Oct. 1 (AP) — Finland announced today the capture of Petrozavodsk, capital of Soviet Karelia, and proudly decked its towns with flags to celebrate possession of city which Finns said "has belonged to us for centuries but only now is ours."

A communiqué said the Finnish forces penetrated Petrozavodsk at 4:30 a. m. and hoisted the Finnish flag over the city hall, climaxing attacks from both south and west. The Russians, it was claimed, were pressed step by step toward Petrozavodsk and many of them destroyed, while Red army counter-attacks from the north were repulsed by the Finns.

The Russians used both tanks and artillery to defend the city, but the survivors finally were pressed into a tight strip of lake coast outside Petrozavodsk and conquered.

Army correspondents said the Finnish forces found Petrozavodsk evacuated of its civilian population, which recently exceeded 100,000 because of the rapid development of Soviet industries there.

They reported also the mass desertion of Soviet officers from Russian forces defending the city, but add that the Red army's political commissars, in numerous instances, had killed themselves rather than submit to capture.

Petrozavodsk is about 180 miles northeast of Leningrad. Its principal strategic importance lies in its location on the Leningrad-Murmansk railway.

The arrival of American naval and marine forces in Iceland was reported on Sept. 7, although no one was seen there.

Two Detroit automobile strikes were settled yesterday but new walkouts occurred at an Ohio ordnance plant and three Gulf Coast shipyards.

Some 1,500 CIO workers walked out at two yards of the Alabama Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company in Mobile in a move which a union spokesman insisted was not a strike but a "job action"—a protest against alleged contract violations and refusal "to raise wages when the time came to raise wages."

Union officials gave no details of their grievances but a company official said that the CIO leader "wanted to fire a man who was soliciting AFL membership." The union and Gulf shipbuilders recently negotiated a stabilization agreement stipulating that there would be no work stoppage for two years.

Several hundred AFL welders left their jobs at the Ingalls shipbuilding plant at Pascagoula, Miss., following reported disagreement over wage scales. Company and union officials were silent on details.

Eighteen Three Strikes

Meanwhile the labor department certified to the Defense Mediation Board the CIO strike against three Chicago meat packers and an AFL strike against the Shaw-Bow-Crane and Hoist Division of Manning, Maxwell and Moore Company, Muskegon, Mich. The Chicago strike, reported to involve 1,500 workers engaged partly on defense contracts, began Sept. 29 over the alleged discharge of seventeen unionists. The Muskegon strike, which started Sept. 26, was a vast store, including minerals and rubber.

Germany Reports Making Progress On East Fronts

Several Red Batteries Captured, Berlin Statement Asserts

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—Germany reported progress today at both ends of the Eastern front, sharing her claims in the north with Finnish forces which announced the capture of Petrozavodsk and in the south with Italians who are bolstering the push across the Ukraine.

Petrozavodsk, an Eastern Karelian city about 180 miles northeast of Leningrad and a port on Lake Onega, is important to the Axis' war plans primarily as a point on the Leningrad-Murman railroad.

Official announcement of its capture was broadcast by the Finnish radio.

Red Batteries Captured

Several Russian batteries were captured as the result of surprise attacks by a German drive toward Kharkov and the industrial Donets river basin in the eastern Ukraine, the high command reported.

"To the north of this," it said, "another armored division has encountered enemy tank forces and destroyed forty-five out of eighty Soviet tanks. The rest were put to flight."

A Stefani news agency report from Rome said Italian troops already had captured 7,000 Russian prisoners and were eliminating the last Red army resistance in a large pocket east of the Dnieper river. The news agency said Tuesday that four Russian infantry divisions had been trapped and all but destroyed.

Report Many Prisoners

"Great masses of war material, thousands of corpses and long columns of prisoners" marked the battle scene, a DNB dispatch said.

On the front before Leningrad, German heavy artillery kept up its pounding of the Russian city's industrial facilities, its water approaches and coastal defense centers.

East of the former Czarist capital, across the narrow isthmus between the gulf of Finland and Lake Ladoga, the Russians were said to have attempted a landing Tuesday southeast of the German-held lake port of Schlesseburg but to have failed with heavy losses.

Long-range German cannon raked Oranienbaum and the Russian island naval base at Kronstadt, which face each other guarding the coast west of Leningrad.

DNB said shells scored additional hits on the 23,606-ton Russian battleship Oktyabrskaya Revolutsiya (October Revolution) which previously had been reported heavily damaged.

Dr. Poling Sees Peril in Peace By Negotiations

Baptist Leader Returns from London and Expresses Views

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 (AP)—Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, said tonight upon his return home from England that a negotiated peace now "would be the death of freedom for our time. God pity us if we give consent to that."

The Baptist minister flew to Great Britain a month ago aboard a British liner, returning to New York yesterday by Atlantic Clipper.

"A mediated peace now as of the status quo would be Hitler's peace," he asserted in a statement.

"That peace would be the death of freedom for our time. God pity us if we give consent to that."

Dr. Poling said he had found that "British religious and educational leaders agree that the eight points of the Atlantic conference [between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt], with the president's supplementary statement, are in broad principles a new chapter for international relations."

"In support of these principles," he added, "many of us will devote all our influence and our energies."

"Certainly a practical unity of action for peace, as well as for war, is an imperative of the English-speaking world."

Gov. James Marries Mrs. Emily Case

DAYLESTOWN, Pa., Oct. 1 (AP)—In a simple fifteen minute ceremony Governor Arthur H. James took as his bride today Mrs. Emily Racliffe Case, attractive 48-year-old widow.

They were wed in picturesque Deep Run Presbyterian church where the bride worshipped as a girl.

Only 150 specially-invited guests witnessed the ceremony, but, outside, several hundred residents of this Bucks county community of 4,500 crowded the streets around the church to catch a glimpse of the state's new first lady and the 88-year-old bridegroom.

Mrs. Miley Dies From Gun Wounds

Mother of Late Marion Miley Succumbs in Hospital

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Elsa Ego Miley, 50, died today of bullet wounds only a few hours after the burial of her slain daughter, golf star Marion Miley.

Thus, investigators' hopes of solving the mysterious shooting of the two women through further statements of the mother were frustrated.

Mrs. Miley died in St. Joseph's hospital, three and a half days after she was wounded and her daughter killed.

Her husband, Fred Miley, Cincinnati golf professional, had spent most of the afternoon in her room after returning from Marion's funeral, but had left shortly before Mrs. Miley died.

Early last Sunday, Mrs. Miley gave a story to police that two masked intruders had attacked her and her daughter in their apartment at the swank Lexington country club. Then she lapsed into a coma from which she never recovered.

Seven hours before Mrs. Miley died, a quiet-spoken priest stood by the gray-metal casket of Marion Miley and asked God's mercy on her soul and retribution for her slayers.

"May God in His Justice bring to punishment those responsible for the dastardly deed that snipped off the life of this young woman in its flower," prayed the Rev. Thomas B. Ehrle in St. Peter's Catholic church.

Marion's father leaned heavily on the arms of two of his brothers as he made his way haltingly into the church.

Bloodhound Hunting For Missing Child

CONWAY, N. H., Oct. 1 (AP)—A bloodhound was headed tonight into the dark, cold woodlands where more than 300 men are searching for five-year-old Pamela Hollingsworth, lost since Sunday.

The dog, trained by Rhode Island state police, led the fourth night search as U. S. Forest Ranger Jacob Ryerson said that chances of finding the child alive were "about at the limit of reasonable hope."

Many of the searchers, including soldiers from Fort Devens, Mass., and Portland, Me., and state guard units from three New Hampshire towns, were ordered out of the woods to avoid the dog, which was led out by a Rhode Island trooper and three conservation officers.

Ryerson said a second bloodhound was expected to be brought from New York tomorrow.

A former convict taken in custody by police in Boston after New Hampshire authorities asked to question him concerning the child's disappearance returned voluntarily with two sheriffs tonight.

Capt. Edward J. Keating of the Boston police said the man had denied knowing anything of the little girl's disappearance.

German General Wounded, Not Killed

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—A German war newsreel today showed Lieut. Gen. Edward Dietl, commander of the German forces on the Finnish front, carrying his left arm in a sling. It appeared that Gen. Dietl had been wounded about the time that a rumor was spread that he was killed in action.

(On Aug. 17 the Moscow radio reported that "according to reliable sources" in Stockholm, Gen. Dietl was killed west of the Soviet Arctic port of Murmansk.)

Rain Falls

At Keedysville reported Washington county had a deficiency of 6.44 inches in the first nine months of the year and September's 1.59 inches of rainfall did little to aid the condition of wells and springs in the area which have been drying up during the past several weeks.

In Fishing Creek reservoir, Frederick's main source of water, it was possible to walk along part of the floor of the dam from which the water had drained completely.

Cumberland, in the more mountainous section of the state, reported plenty of water for the city.

Crops Need Rain

The U. S. weather bureau said the latest rainless week resulted in poor to fair crops and emphasized the need for rain for late potatoes, pastures, grasses, fall crops and plowing. Fires, the report said, were burning in areas in six counties.

In Princess Anne, on the Eastern Shore, local records showed September to be the driest in forty-six years. Only 49 inches of rain fell during the month, compared with a previous low of .88 in September 1925.

KARPIS GANGSTER IS ARRESTED FOR $46,000 MAIL TRAIN JOB

Benson Groves, Caught Attempting To Rob Bank in Carthage, Ohio, Admits Identity

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1 (AP)—Sought nearly six years as one of five Karpis gangsters who participated in a $46,000 mail train robbery at Garrettsville, O., a mild-mannered and stooped little man in his 60's was captured today after an alleged attempt to rob a bank in suburban Carthage.

Postoffice Inspector Thomas Noll identified him as Benson "Soup" Groves, alias "Old Ben," alias Benjamin Grayson and George Wilson.

Not until his arraignment on a state charge of entering a bank with intent to commit a felony was the real identity of the neatly-groomed prisoner established, detective Chief Emmett D. Kigman reported.

Gangster Admits Identity

Then, Kigman said, Groves suggested mildly that "you turn me over to postoffice inspectors because they want me worse than you do."

Admission of complicity in the Garrettsville robbery followed.

"Soup" Groves was a major participant in that, said U. S. Attorney Emerich B. Freed at Cleveland. "He was the man who got in the cab of the train and covered the highway transport."

Smith's calls for help attracted three city firemen on duty at a nearby station-house, who disarmed the man.

Groves was the last to be apprehended of the five indicted in

29th Draws Pay, But Has No Place To Spend Money

Troops Draw a Million in Cash, but Are Far from Town

BY FRANCIS P. FLEMING

MORVEN, N. C., Oct. 1 (AP)—Lights in the finance office of Twenty-ninth division headquarters burned well into the small hours this morning as clerks counted nearly $1,000,000 in cash for distribution to about 15,000 enlisted men whose monthly pay day arrived today.

Cash drawn from the Charlotte, N. C., branch of the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday was trucked into camps of military police armed with shot guns and 45 caliber Colt sidearms.

Total amount of the division's payroll, including officers' checks, was in excess of $1,000,000.

Although USO organizations were planning dances for the weekend and the division's theater will be in operation, the soldiers still had a serious problem to solve: where to spend the money.

They kept their fingers crossed in the hope that a special order might authorize use of army transports to Charlotte, sixty miles away, over the weekend.

Meanwhile, division officers who attended conferences with First Army Corps directors in Monroe Friday, mapped plans for field maneuvers which probably will start Monday. Medical corps officers said the men were in top condition for the exercises. Several cases of poison oak were among the most serious they treated in addition to the usual sprained ankles, cuts and bruises.

In London, the Reuters news agency said that the radio at Prague, former capital of Czechoslovakia, announced extension of a state of emergency to the districts of Hodonin, Uversky Brod and Uhersky Hradiste.

Elias Loses Rights

The conviction of General Elias, who has been premier since April, 1939, included a provision depriving him of his civil rights for life.

(There was no explanation for this sentence against a man condemned to death.)

News of other developments in the protectorate was reduced to a carefully-controlled trickle through German official and semi-official sources.

Unrest in other German-conquered countries apparently was hidden in similar fashion, but a German radio report heard in New York said four persons had been executed and one sent to prison for life in the Netherlands for operating a sabotage and espionage ring and for shooting a German railroad worker.

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me., Oct. 1 (AP)—Maritime circles reported an SOS late today from an unidentified freighter, which radioed it had been "torpedoed by submarine off Ireland."

A rebroadcast of the call from a Canadian station at Campobello, Nova Scotia, led to first reports that the call came from a point off the Canadian coast.

A second unidentified freighter was reported radioing that it was "in action with submarine" and maritime circles were of the opinion that the shooting duel was taking place in approximately the same position off Ireland from which the SOS came.

In concluding its session the conference adhered to the resolution of the three governments that after the final annihilation of Nazi tyranny, a peace will be established which will enable the whole world to live in security in its own territory in conditions free from fear or war.

The Soviet communiqué stressed the "atmosphere of perfect mutual understanding, confidence and good will" and said the delegates were "inspired by the eminence of the cause of delivering other nations from the Nazi threat of enslavement."

Stalin, it was said, "took an active part" in the conference which "manifested perfect unanimity and close cooperation of the three great powers in their common efforts to gain a victory over the mortal enemy of all freedom-loving nations."

The Russian communiqué did not specifically mention the agreement for exchange of weapons and raw materials.

Delivery dates were not disclosed.

Highway System Is Inadequate, Hoffman Asserts

President of Studebaker Corporation Wants Better Roads

DETROIT, Oct. 1 (AP)—The nation's present highway system is inadequate to even peace-time needs and road construction "is almost automatically No. 1 on the list of post-defense projects," Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Corporation, said here tonight.

There seems no doubt that Len- ingrad's defenders, like those at Odessa, are still balking Nazi siege operations. It is even possible that they have cracked the German steel ring sufficiently for a supply route from Moscow to Leningrad to be reopened at least temporarily.

And nowhere else southward for a thousand miles or more is there any intimation of German progress since the fall of Kiev nearly two weeks ago and subsequent mopping-up of the Kiev pocket.

Moscow now admits loss of Poltava, which Germany claimed many days ago; but also reports the Russian defense line stabilized along the east bank of the Vorskla river on that sector of the new Kharkov defense front. Poltava lies on the west bank of that stream, which is a major tributary of the Dnieper.

Nazi Thrust Halted

The Nazi thrust Northeastward toward Kharkov from Kremenchuk (below) was the most dangerous spearhead pointed at the Donets basin. However, the Vor- klas offers the Russians a reasonably strong front on which to stand.

Stand by Son

"Stand by your son, give him your name, and when he grows to be a man he will be proud to own it. This young love you speak of can start her love anew. She can meet some man who is free of burdens like yours, marry him and be happy."

"If she married you she would never be happy thinking of how unfair you have been to another woman and your child. For five long years this woman has been faithful to her trust as mother. Make up to her for that time. She strikes me as being a pretty fine soldier herself, and let me tell you that to have a son is always blessed."

Last month this column published a letter from a soldier who told of his problem. He felt it would be the right thing to marry the mother of his four-year-old son, rather than a girl of 18 with whom he had fallen in love, and who was in love with him.

He said that the boy's mother and he had drifted apart. They don't hate each other; they're just indifferent. She has been good, and he can't bear to join the service and perhaps never come back, leaving the boy and his mother without his name.

Conscience Hurts

He has told the girl he loves all about his past life, and she tells him to do the right thing. He says his conscience will torment him if he leaves his son's mother, living in the hand to mouth way she has since the boy's birth, and that she has been so straight, so wonderful a mother.

Faced Same Problem

"I found myself in almost the identical predicament as you do now, almost sixty-three years ago. A few days before I was to marry a girl who seemed my ideal of perfection, I discovered indirectly that I was the father of a boy, born to a girl I used to run around with. I did not know how heroic this girl had been in caring for our child. Like you, soldier boy, my conscience was upset, and I told my fiance I thought this girl and our son had a greater claim on me than she had.

"My fiance was magnificent and urged me to go to my little family and blessed us all. I have never regretted what I did. My wife died about three years ago and proved to be loyal and faithful for nearly sixty years. I've always been proud of my son. I am now nearly 90 years of age and hope your story, soldier boy, will have the same happy ending as mine."

THE DAILY STORY

THE BIGSHOT

About Two Old Ladies Who Thought They Knew Everything—until They Visited the Big City, and Mr. Diggies

By ELIZABETH BUCK

"Here is the fare, Mr. Taximan, and also a nickel for your trouble," Miss Angela Diggies said, standing on the curb after alighting from the cab. Her twin sister, Prudence, stood close by, her wrinkled face absorbed in the magnificence of the hotel where their nephew, Daingerfield Diggies must reside.

through my tender years, but I'm afraid that I rather disappointed them. They're good old gals. Now, not a word about my business. Let me handle things!" He went on.

Despite the changes in their young nephew since last they had seen him, the two maiden aunts still thought he was the handsomest Diggies extant. That he was born to be a sheep of the blackest dye made no difference. They beamed at him in frank admiration.

"The man downstairs told us that you were a bigshot bookmaker, Daingerfield. What does he mean by that term?" Aunt Angela inquired brightly.

Ragsy looked uncomfortable. "Why, what does it sound like, Aunt Angela?" her nephew smiled broadly, but evading a direct answer. "A bookmaker makes books of one kind or another!"

Prudence nodded. "I always hoped that you would be an author, like your Uncle Ned. You favor him, you know. You are a writer, aren't you, Daingerfield?"

"He flashed a grin at her. "Well, I got my start here in the city writing, after a fashion. A man hired me to write certain sheets in his place of business. He was a bookmaker, you see, and I—in time I advanced to take over his business! Now, what would my two favorite relatives like to do for the afternoon?"

"Oh, something exciting, Daingerfield. It's been so dull in Belleplaine. Could we ride on an omnibus and visit the City Hall and perhaps the Museum?"

Ragsy will be happy to escort you, I'm certain," their nephew smiled with complete confidence. "He is very familiar with the ins and outs of the City Hall. In fact, a lot of my business is transacted there by Ragsy. And the Museum! It should be a memorable afternoon!"

Ragsy looked darkly at his boss. He didn't even know where the Museum was. And the City Hall! He could picture himself taking the two gentle, ancient innocents around

SELECT THE LARGER IN DETERMINING your preference between doubling the opponent's bid and going ahead to bid a game which you think your side can make, you have several things to weigh against each other. Reduced to the simplest essentials, the problem is which will produce the larger number of points. If you are vulnerable and they are not, a game is to be preferred to a set of any number of tricks less than four. If they are vulnerable and you are not, a set of two tricks is more valuable. If neither side is vulnerable, or if both are, a set of three tricks is preferable to game, but game is preferable to a set of two tricks.

4 ♠ (7)
Where North doubled the 4-Spades, it was beaten three tricks for a score of 500 for North and South. Three tricks were taken in trumps, plus two in hearts and one in diamonds, West getting the rest.

At another table, North decided that his side ought to be able to make a game in clubs which, with the side vulnerable, would be worth 100 points more in duplicate. In fact, the game producing rubber would be preferable in rubber bridge also to a two-trick doubled set of non-vulnerable opponents. This North reckoned that South had at least seven playing tricks for his overall of clubs at the range of three. He reckoned his partner as blank in spades, from the opponents' bidding, expected that either there would be no losers in clubs or else only one in diamonds.

He was right. West made the meanest lead against the 5-Clubs, his trump to the A, and East returned his other trump. After that, however, South lost only one diamond, as he parked one on a heart and ruffed one.

An OPEN LETTER TO THE OFFICE OF
PRICE ADMINISTRATION
...Washington, D. C.

YOU ARE bucking terrific odds in trying to keep prices from soaring sky-high. You are facing a real fight in battling the high-cost of living. You must be at your wits' end trying to ward off inflation.

I can appreciate and understand these overwhelming problems that are confronting you and with which you are grappling every day and every hour during these rapidly changing times. Because I do understand... I am urging here in an open letter that the merchants of the United States join me in a concerted nationwide effort to help you... and by helping you to help their country and themselves.

I am asking merchants everywhere to JOIN me in a patriotic move to KEEP PRICES DOWN. They can help accomplish it through adopting my sensational low-price policy... a low-price policy during a time of rising prices. IT CAN BE DONE!

Here is what I am doing throughout the country, and now suggest to others:

I want you to know that in my stores throughout the country, we are actually selling goods at prices that are LOWER THAN THOSE OF LAST YEAR—and in many cases, LOWER THAN THOSE OF TWO YEARS AGO!

You will want to know how it is possible to do this: reduce prices during a period when merchandise costs are on the increase. Here is my answer:

The increasing volume of business that we are doing, and expect to do, will more than make up for these marked reductions in our prices. You need have no worry about the increase in the cost of clothes, both for men and women, if other merchants throughout the country do as I am doing: reduce their prices and look to an increased volume of business to offset their lower prices.

The people of this nation are worried about rising prices. Lower prices will make them so much happier. We do not need to tell you this. You must be constantly receiving more and more complaints about the higher cost of living.

THEREFORE... I am petitioning here the merchants of this country to JOIN me in this patriotic effort to KEEP PRICES DOWN—and so enable the public to buy more for their dollar. In this way they will buy more; it will be healthier for everybody; it will definitely help STOP the danger of inflation.

These may be bold words I am using... but when one discloses TRUTH—one need never fear the use of strong words.

Men and Women At College Have Responsibilities

Dr. Myers Aims Few Pertinent Questions at Freshman Students

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

As you start your college year ask yourself a few questions: Did you really want to attend or were you sent? Have you plans ahead? When will you have graduated?

Will your going mean a personal sacrifice to your parents? How are you going to compensate them for their self-denials for you? What self-denials are you going to make? In case your parents have ample money to finance you without feeling pinched, have there been no other sacrifices by them for your sake? Suppose they give you as much money as you care to have. Where, then, are you going to get your training in self-allegation?

Most young men and women going off to college this fall will not be short on rest and recreation. More will lack good habits of hard work.

Regardless of your social or financial background, your major problem is to make good in the classroom. You lack the spur of economic limitations may not find it so easy to train yourself in industry. But the habits you will have developed during the first several weeks at college are likely to set the pace for your whole college course.

New Responsibilities

You now have new responsibili-

WIFE PRESERVERS

These are the foods that go to make correct eating throughout the year for every family. Milk, leafy green or yellow vegetables, raw fruits and vegetables rich in vitamin C, meat and whole grain products.

If at home your social life has been closely supervised, you may grow intoxicated by the new sense of freedom and do foolish things for which you later will be very sorry. If at home you have been supervised little, you may all the more abuse your liberties at college. If you wish to guide your choices and decisions intelligently you will have to study the consequences of your actions. Any young man or woman who habitually looks ahead at consequences will pilot his own life successfully.

Find the Time

Take care of your health, physically, mentally, emotionally, spiritually. Find some time for meditation and reflection, and don't let the mere mechanics of work and play crowd out your enjoyment of the beautiful and lovely and worthwhile. If you have been trained at home in religious life, do not break away from it, provided you are looking for substantial satisfactions.

A selected list of books about college and life at college and success at college may be had by writing me at 235 East Forty-fifth street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a first grade at school before the age of six?

Stock List Closes Slightly Off In Dullest Day Since August 29

Western Union and Postal Strong on Rumors of Early Merger

By BERNARD S. O'HARA
NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (P)—The stock market worked itself into a jolting mood in the final few minutes of trading today and erased an array of fractional losses in the leaders.

Early heaviness in the motors, steel and aircrafts put obstacles in the way of an extension of Tuesday's recovery but a considerable number of specialties were able to push ahead for moderate gains.

It was the slowest session since Aug. 29 with transfers of 368,195 shares against 457,180 yesterday. A good many brokers and customers deserted Wall Street for the World Series baseball game, and regarded as a further factor in curtailment of dealings was the Jewish holiday.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average was down .1 of a point at 411.

Knox Says U.S. Sweeps Atlantic Free of U-Boats

Declares Nazi Germany Will Eventually Be Locked in Ring

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox told the American Bar Association today, "we are already sweeping the German pirates from the North Atlantic, and bringing to England the products of the arsenal we have set up here."

He didn't disclose any evidence of actual fighting by the United States navy since the September 16 orders to the Atlantic fleet to shoot on sight, but he added:

"Eventually we (the British and American navies) shall lock Nazi Germany up in an iron ring, and within that ring of seapower she shall perish."

After his speech, the navy chief said at a press conference that he had no reports of any new incidents involving the Atlantic fleet. He described the battle of the Atlantic as "very quiescent." The word "convey" is now obsolete in describing the task of the United States fleet, he said, explaining that he preferred the word "projection."

Navy Provides Protection

"The navy is providing whatever protection is needed anywhere, he said.

In his address before one of the few general sessions which the convention will hold, Secretary Knox asserted that the United States must quit "indulging in the furtuous folly of declaring that we will not fight when war threatens unless our own shores are invaded."

"If we must fight," he said, "and mark this well, there will not be for many years to come a time when we may not have to fight, then with modern weapons what they are let us determine that we will fight elsewhere than on our own soil."

He emphasized frequently that freedom of the seas is essential to peace and declared such freedom would be enforced only by joint leadership of the United States and Great Britain.

Wants Great Sea Power

"It is the hope of the world," he said, "that sea power for the next hundred years, at least, will reside in the hands of the two great nations which now possess that power, the United States and Great Britain. You may say it is a dangerous power when controlled by a few, and there is truth in that section."

But, feeble and inadequate as may be the impulses in American and British hearts for the common good, and the advancement of civilization, and likely as it is that this power will sometimes be abused, it is far safer thus than if that power should be permitted to pass into the hands of aggressive nations who seek their own selfish aggrandizement.

"Freedom of the seas, the keeping of the highways of the seas clear of pirates, is as essentially a duty of civilization as it is a part of the function of any organized society to make strong measures against bandits on its highways, against those who would scoff at the law and who would attain their own needs by violence. Our seas cannot be free if international bandits are permitted to use them as the highways of conquest."

"We will keep the sea lanes open; we will keep those lanes open wherever they may lead, to the end that totalitarianism shall be defeated, and the principle of free governments of free peoples be preserved."

"Eventually we shall lock Nazi Germany up in an iron ring, and within that ring of sea power she shall perish."

PATTERN 9874

When the latest silhouette and a practical home style are combined—so in Pattern 9874—the result is a three-star fashion! Marian Martin chooses your two favorite details, the V-neckline, the buttoning down the front and combines it with this season's success story—the full-skirted dirndl in tiered effect. Fullness is gathered into two horizontal low-placed seams, the first one coming at the hip, which leaves your waistline smooth. A tie belt makes you slimmer still. The Sew Chart gives clear, easy-to-follow details—why not make one frock in a posy print, another perhaps with long sleeves and contrasting collar? Both will make you pretty as a picture.

Pattern 9874 may be ordered easily in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4½ yards 35 inch fabric.

Plans for New Jail in Hardy Are Considered

Proposed Structure May Be Built Adjoining County Court House

MOOREFIELD Oct. 1 — Heeding the demands of nearly every civic group in Hardy county, F. C. Welton, president of the Hardy County Court, proposed the construction of a new jail, adjoining the present court house, Monday night. Welton, who has been seriously ill, was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Ralph J. Bean. The county court proposed to dispose of the present jail, use the proceeds of the sale as a part of the sponsor's contribution on a W. P. A. project to build the jail on the east side of the court house and utilize the same heating plant in the court house. The alternative, should the W. P. A. project fail to materialize, would be to submit a bond issue to the voters in the next primary election to secure the funds for construction.

Welton stated that he was vitally interested in the construction of a new jail and had been working on the plan for the last eight years. Plans for the structure have been made and are in the W. P. A. offices in Charleston now. He requested a committee from the Inter Civic Club Council to work with the county court in the negotiations with the W. P. A. and state authorities.

H. G. Mumizing, president of the Inter Civic Club Council, who presided at the meeting Monday night, appointed Judge H. M. Calhoun, Ralph J. Bean and G. R. Kiracofe as the committee to go to Charles-ton with the county court to confer in the project.

A resolution was passed at the meeting requesting that the county court build a new jail and not consider repairing the present structure.

Talks on Eroded Soil

R. A. Ackerman, superintendent of Reymann Memorial Farms at Wardensville, addressed the Moorefield Lions club this week, giving a brief history of the institution and defined work now being carried on at the experiment farm.

Ackerman told of the work and experiments being carried on with eroded soil, the effect of grasses and legumes, with a separate project on eroded soil using trees as the corrective measure. Other experiments being carried on are with the selection of the best kinds of red clover seed to use, hybrid corn and the effect of phosphate on pastures.

Welton stated that he was vitally interested in the construction of a new jail and had been working on the plan for the last eight years.

A Ride in a Paper Boat

By MARIE BLIZARD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Leaving New York for Miami to marry again, HALLIE SINGLETON, a fashion model reminiscences about the time six years before when she was only 21 years old and had just met ERIC ADAMS, a young would-be actor. She remembers how SHEILA SHERMAN, a chorus girl and friend of Eric's, appeared on the scene.

TODAY: Louise, her best friend, tells Hallie she should see her.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

BEYOND SAYING that she thought they should have a "heart-to-heart talk," Louise wouldn't, or couldn't, tell Hallie why she felt it was so urgent for her to see her father before she went to the coast. Nor did Hallie press her. Living with Eric, she had caught his habit of pushing off the things she felt she did not want to hear. She tried to tell herself that Louise meant it only because she was going so far away. Which was perfectly natural and as it should be.

But telling herself that did not keep down the sharp little arrows that darted painfully through her while she waited in Grand Central for her father's train to get in.

He was arriving at 4 o'clock in response to the special delivery she had sent him, saying merely that she didn't want to go west without seeing him.

At five minutes of four she told herself the arrows were no more than little fears for his health. She had convinced herself of that when she saw his stooped figure coming up the ramp. Then her joy to see his face wiped the last echo of her fears away. He was stooped and tired looking, yes, but his voice was hale and hearty and, when she begged to know at once if he was well, he assured her that he was.

He had to go back on the midnight, but he was glad that she had wanted to see her old dad before she went away. He had some things he wanted to talk about to her, too, but he would not say them until they had tea. They would have a gala tea at the Biltmore.

"Very gala," she promised, ordering sweet cakes because she knew he would expect her to like them.

They'd always had them when she was a school girl and he used to call for her to fetch her home when school holidays came. Teas at the Biltmore. They stretched back over a period of ten years. It seemed a terribly long time to her.

Remembering them, looking at him over the tea cup she handed him, she saw then how much he had aged in ten years. He was 54, but he looked old, looked like a man in his late, and very tired, sixties. The arrow struck at her again, with sharper darting fears.

She said, "Dad, are you working too hard?"

"Everybody is working too hard these days, Hallie. And there are lots of sick people. Sights are as dangerous as germs sometimes."

"Sights?"

"People with troubles they can't meet. There are a lot of them right now. Hmmm . . . Guess I'll try that fruit tart." He pointed to a sticky cake on the tray of French pastry the waiter brought to their table. "Don't have to look out for my figure anymore."

The waiter went away and the doctor tackled the cake with well-simulated enthusiasm. "Nothing wrong that this won't right. Like a bit of sweets, sort of forbidden fruit."

"Dad—" Hallie found she could not eat here at all. "Shall we have a hair-letting-down talk?"

The doctor folded his arms and looked at his daughter. "Remember the day when we sat here and you said that same thing? That time you were in trouble. Terrible trouble!" He smiled merrily, but his eyes on her face were sharp and worried. "I think it was something about conjugating French verbs. You had an idea that your teacher . . ."

"I remember, Dad." "Hallie!" His voice had changed to a serious note. "Are you in trouble now?"

"Oh, no," she said hurriedly. "No, it isn't that. It's just that I'm going rather far away and we mightn't have a chance to talk. What I meant about hair-letting-down stuff, well, I thought if either of us had anything to say . . ."

The doctor pushed his tea cup aside. "I have something to tell you, Hallie. It'll be easier to tell you, knowing that things are all right with you."

"They are, Dad. Eric and I love each other. I'm not as happy as I would be if Mummie hadn't . . ."

"I know," her father answered. "But in time . . . you love each other, eh? And your marriage is what you thought it would be?"

She nodded. "I'm glad, glad, dear. You know, an only daughter is a great responsibility to her father. A son can always take care of himself, but a daughter . . ."

She reached across the table for his hand and squeezed it. "You've done all right by your only child, Doctor."

"I hope so," he said abruptly. "My dear, that's all you will have."

The way his face looked!

"You would have to know some day, Hallie."

"Dad—" She got his name around the lump in her throat. "How things have gone badly for you?"

He nodded. "I hoped you wouldn't have to know."

"Only?" He smiled at her wryly.

"Everything I had saved—and investments. I tried to save them. I had to mortgage your mother's house. We'll pull through. I've still got a practice. It's you I'm thinking of. You may never get that house. If anything happens to me . . ."

Relief spread through Hallie like a soothsaying balm.

It was only money. Hallie was not afraid of not having money.

She said, "Daddy, we'll buy you everything you want with the dividends. Eric gets on his fortune. We're going to make a fortune!"

Howard Shuns Film Fame, Likes Seclusion

In his own quiet way, John Howard, who appears with Brod Crawford and Binnie Barnes in "Tight Shoes," the Universal laugh hit starting tomorrow at the Liberty theater, manages to get around quite a bit.

He doesn't "disappear" on adventures at sea, and he doesn't hunt elephantine reptiles in the Matto Grosso. He doesn't make round trip flights from Hollywood to New York just to see whether Jack and Charlie will favor him with a nod when he spends his money at Club "21," or wherever it is that Jack and Charlie hang their hats.

Nor does one read much about Howard along Romantic Row.

But even if the gossip tattlers don't know it, Howard does all right by himself.

The debonair young star, who came to the screen soon after he graduated from Western Reserve University with a Phi Beta Kappa key and a large variety of "letters" in just about every major sport, flies a plane and sails a boat. But he gets a lot of fun out of flying and sailing without landing on the front pages of the newspapers.

Leavitt Furnishes Comedy in Operetta

Comic relief is the spark plug of any series dramatic production according to Douglas Leavitt, the veteran comedian who is featured in the role of Christian Kranz in the Franz Schubert operetta "Blossom Time" at the Maryland theater tomorrow evening.

This is particularly true in a light drama such as "Blossom Time," which has sustained sentimental overtones that would soon fade were it not for the balancing effect provided by the comedy roles, the chief of which is the bibulous Kranz.

Mr. Leavitt first appeared in the role some ten years ago and has played the part more than 1000 times. His deft portrayal of the character reveals him as one of the country's master comedians, and his interpretation has received the continued praise of the critics.

Duke, Tennessee Ready for Blue Chip Grid Clash

Coaches Wade and Barnhill Expect High-Scor ing Contest

By FRANK B. GILBRETH

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 1 (AP) — Little Sir Echo was the busiest guy in Dixie today, as football teams and Duke and Tennessee toiled through final heavy drills for their chip game here Saturday.

Coaches Wallace Wade of Duke and John Barnhill of Tennessee both said the same things, and yet they were in agreement on only one conclusion.

That conclusion was that the 40,000 spectators who were expected to be on hand had better bring along their adding machines. It's going to be a high-scoring party, Wade and Barnhill believe.

Little Sir Echo trucked from Knoxville to Durham and from Durham to Knoxville as Wade and Barnhill were interviewed in their home camps.

"It looks to me," said Wade, "as if we would have to score three touchdowns to win."

Plenty of "Ifs"

"If we were to win the ball game," said Barnhill, "I think we would have to score at least two or three touchdowns."

"If we couldn't keep Furman from moving the ball, how do you think we could stop Duke?" asked Barnhill.

If Wake Forest scored fourteen points against us, how many do you think Tennessee will score?" asked Wade.

In their opening games, Tennessee beat Furman and Duke beat Wake Forest, by scores of 32-6 and 45-14 respectively.

If Duke should score three touchdowns against Tennessee — and Wade says that's the only way the Devils can win — it would be the only team to accomplish that feat in recent years except Boston College, which whipped the Vols 19-13 in the Sugar bowl last New Year's Day.

If Tennessee should score three times against Duke, it would be the first team to do so since 1937, when Georgia Tech bowed to the Devils, 20-19.

Wade Anxious To Win

The way it looks from here, there's no favorite for Saturday's ball game. The only certain thing is that Wade really is anxious to win this one.

The Duke thin man has been coaching for twenty-three years, and in that time he's won 163 games, lost thirty-five and tied eight. Seven of those defeats and one tie have been dished out by Tennessee.

The only team in the country which has gotten the better of Wade in a series is Tennessee. He played the Vols three times when he was head coach at Alabama, and won one and lost two.

Allegany Jayvees Oppose Fort Hill Gridmen Tomorrow

Cumberland's annual high school jayvee football series will be opened tomorrow with Coach Walter "Bill" Bowers' Allegany junior varsity eleven tangling with Fort Hill's jayvees on the Campobello field for 4 o'clock. The Blue and White outfit has been drilling for three weeks.

Others who will probably see service are W. Gibbs and G. Stevens; fullbacks: H. Hines and R. Rice; halfbacks: M. Kline and H. Cunningham; ends: M. Barb, center, M. Bagley and A. Marple, guards, and several others who are showing steady improvement.

Romney Silents Play St. Mary's Saturday

ROMNEY, W. Va., Oct. 1—Coach "Ouck" Collette of the West Virginia School for the Deaf eleven announced to night that the Silents' game with St. Mary's Catholic high of Hagerstown, Md., will be played Saturday at Hagerstown instead of on the local gridiron. The deaf school crew opened its season last week by dropping a 6-0 skirmish to the Grafton Industrial school outfit.

Back Wages Paid Here in 3 Years Total $23,500

Wage-Hour Division Inspections Give Extra Pay to 1,361 Workers

Back wages aggregating $23,500 have been paid to 1,361 employees in Cumberland and vicinity as a result of investigations by the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor, it was announced here yesterday.

The compilation covers the three-year period since the Wage-Hour law became effective in October, 1938.

Average of $17.26

The back wages were paid as a result of inspections of 107 business establishments in the Cumberland area, according to Leo H. McCormick, director of the Maryland office of the Wage-Hour division. They amount to an average of $17.26 per worker.

At the same time, attention was called to the records regulations of the division. Inspectors have found, it was said, many employers here whose payroll and time records were set up on a semi-monthly or bi-weekly basis. Although the violation is a comparatively minor one, the offenders must be charged with violating the law because of these improper records.

It was emphasized that the Wage-Hour division has always required that accurate records be kept on a weekly basis, showing total hours per day and per week; rate or rates of pay; straight earnings at the regular rate of pay for all hours worked in the week; the excess, or extra, pay overtime, if any; and the date of payment. There are other requirements, too, including the recording of each employee's full name and home address, and date of his birth if he is under 19 years of age.

Educational Program Planned

The division also revealed that an educational program and a compliance drive are to be launched jointly in Western Maryland immediately. The educational program, featuring radio broadcasts to acquaint workers with their rights and employers with their duties under the law, and the compliance drive, which will mean inspections of all establishments covered by the law, will get underway first in the Frederick area. The Hagerstown territory will be tackled next, and then the Cumberland area.

The radio programs will include round-table discussions in which outstanding members of the community will be invited to participate. Comparative figures on back wages paid in Western Maryland as a result of the Wage-Hour division's activities showed the largest amount to have been paid in the Frederick area, where 1,713 employees received a total of $31,460, or an average of $18.80. There, however, 212 establishments were inspected.

Office in Hagerstown

In Hagerstown, 1,200 employees received an aggregate of $21,000 in back wages, or an average of $18.50. This resulted from inspection of ninety-five business establishments.

The regional office of the division for Western Maryland is at the Hamilton hotel, Hagerstown, and the staff includes Margaret S. Stabler, senior inspector, and John G. Forsyth and George T. Talbot, inspectors. Inspectors visit here from time to time, making their headquarters in Room 301 in the federal building.

Complaints or requests for information may be addressed to the division at Hagerstown, although plans are under way for eventual establishment of a regular office here.

Husband Ordered To Support Mate

Mrs. John Morris Wins Court Fight for Separate Maintenance

A wife's plea for a court order to compel her husband to contribute to her support was granted yesterday in circuit court as Associate Judge William A. Huster signed a decree directing John Morris to pay Mrs. Elsie Morris $25 each month.

In an opinion granting Mrs. Morris's petition for separate maintenance, the jurist also dismissed Morris's suit for an absolute divorce.

According to the bill of complaint filed by Estel C. Kelley, attorney, the couple was wed May 19, 1932, and separated February 8, 1938.

When Morris allegedly deserted his wife and refused to heed her requests for a reconciliation, Mrs. Morris said she was unable to support herself.

Represented by Edward J. Ryan, attorney, Morris, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad employee, countered with a cross-bill of complaint in which he asked an absolute divorce, alleging that the separation was mutual consent and dated further back than 1938. The voluntary element brought the case under the purview of a recent statute permitting absolute divorces when such separations extend over a five-year period, he contended.

Mrs. Morris denied, however, that she consented to the separation, maintaining that Morris deserted her and that she sought a reconciliation on more than one occasion.

Miss Anna DeRossa Dies in Ridgeley

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi DeRossa Succumbs after Illness

Miss Anna DeRossa, 42, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi DeRossa, died yesterday morning at the home of her parents in Ridgeley after a short illness.

A native of Naples, Italy, Miss DeRossa joined her family in Ridgeley two years ago.

Surviving are her parents, four sisters, Mrs. Josephine Barich, Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Misses Elizabeth, Pauline and Philomena DeRossa, and three brothers, Jack, Luigi Jr., and Carl DeRossa, all at home.

Funeral services will be held Friday in St. Anthony's Catholic church, Ridgeley. Interment will be in SS. Peter and Paul cemetery here.

Payrolls Here Show Increase

Employment for First Eight Months of This Year Is Better

Payrolls and employment in Cumberland's seventeen major industries during the first eight months of 1941 show a marked increase over the figures for the entire year of 1938, according to a report by the chamber of commerce.

The increase in payrolls during the first eight months of 1941 over 1940.

Provided payrolls continue for the rest of 1941 it is expected the total yearly payroll will amount to $25,214,544 as compared to $21,500,000 in 1940. The increase would amount to sixteen and a half per cent. The rate of increase in 1941 over 1938 is about sixty per cent, the chamber report revealed.

Employment this year is about 2,000 above the figure for 1940. An average of 16,523 persons were employed monthly this year as compared to 14,518 during 1940. A decline of 131 persons registered at the local office of the Maryland State Employment Service was also noted. Placement of 262 persons were made by the office in September fifty-two more than in August.

For the eight months ending August 31 the average monthly pay was $2,161,212 as compared to $1,847,018 average for 1940, an increase of $254,194.

The chamber of commerce report of activities, released today, shows the August payroll to be $2,134,878 as compared to $1,772,110 for the same month last year. August employment totals 17,426 to 15,191 for August 1940.

July bank debts in the city were up three percent over June and eighteen percent ahead of July 1940. The coal output in Maryland in July was 148,000 tons or 50,000 more than the same month last year.

The father told hospital attendants that she, along with several other children had, on a truck he was driving on his farm, and that as he was going up a grade he heard the children yell for him to stop as the child had fallen under the truck.

Scouters Will Attend Meeting In Pennsylvania

Two Day Conference Is Planned in Laurel Hill Recreation Area

Raymond C. Lalor, scout executive of Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, announced yesterday that a three council scouts conference will be held Oct. 11 and 12 in the Laurel Hill recreation area in the National Forests near Somerset, Pa.

Lalor attended a meeting Tuesday at a camp in the recreation area where the conference will be held at which time he conferred with Howard Knepper, of Johnstown, Pa., scout executive of the Robert E. Perry Council and Thomas Ewing, of Greensburg, scout executive of the West Moreland-Fayette council.

Program is Planned

The three scout executives inspected the assembly hall, dining room, kitchen, cabins where the men will be quartered during their stay at the camp and other buildings where various activities will be held.

Following an inspection of the camp the men worked out the program which will begin Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and which will keep the men busy until the conference adjourns at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon. Registration is set for 2 p. m. Saturday.

Highlights of the program, which has not been announced in detail, will include talks by Wes Klausman, of New York City, national director of camping and activities and Harry Nagel, of Philadelphia, regional representative.

In addition to the addresses of the two high ranking scout officials there will be demonstrations and discussions on various Boy Scout activities. Another highlight will be a program around a camp fire Saturday night. A church service at the camp will be one of the features of the Sunday program.

Can Register Now

Lalor said that scouts masters, assistant scout masters, commissioners and all other scouts are eligible to attend the conference and that he is now receiving reservations at his office here. The local scout executive hopes to have a fine representation from Potomac Council and expects to have at least twenty-five men at the conference.

The two Pennsylvania councils which will participate in the conference which held similar meetings in the Laurel Hill area the past two years but this will be the first year Potomac Council has joined them.

An attendance of between 150 and 200 men is expected, Knepper said.

Night Classes To Be Held in Journalism At Fort Hill High

Night classes under the sponsorship of the Allegany County Board of Education are being organized in preparing radio scripts, short story writing, commercial advertising and newspaper technique. The course will be known as the journalism class.

A meeting will be held tonight at Fort Hill high school at 7 o'clock. Classes are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week. Persons over sixteen years who are out of school are eligible.

Members of the class will prepare script for various types of radio programs, including news broadcasts, one-act plays and commercial advertising. Visits to broadcasting studios and the study of studio routine will form part of the course.

Rooted in Nature

Property right is rooted in the very nature of man. Property right will give man that which is required for the preservation of life and of life's well-being.

The priest punctured the fallacy that "class is naturally hostile to class, that rich and poor are at war with one another."

"So irrational and false is this view," he quoted Pope Leo as saying, "that the exact contrary is the case."

Just as the symmetry of the human body is the result of the disposition of the members of the body, so in a state it is ordained by nature that these two classes should exist in harmony and agreement and should, as it were, fit into one another so as to maintain the equilibrium of the body politic."

As to disputes between capital and labor, Father Boniface asserted that "there is a way to solve them" if principles of good will, justice, right and charity are observed by both factions.

The Rev. Edward Lewis will conduct an evangelistic meeting all next week at the First Methodist church.

Services will begin nightly at 7:30 o'clock. There will be an old fashioned song service each night in addition to the preaching.
